

Regional Specialty Adviser to the British Cardiovascular Society & Royal Colleges of Physicians

Role description

Introduction

The British Cardiovascular Society (BCS) and Royal College of Physicians (RCP) introduced a system of joint regional representatives in 2006. This system has evolved over subsequent years and the appointment of the representatives is currently based on historical Cardiovascular Network boundaries. Following discussion the BCS and RCP through their Joint Specialty Committee have agreed to reinvigorate the role of these regional representatives. This document provides a revised role description for joint BCS/RCP Regional Specialty Advisers for cardiology/cardiovascular medicine.

Term of Office

3 years (plus 3, subject to renewal by mutual agreement).

Criteria for appointment

Regional Specialty Advisers will be:

- An established consultant cardiologist or senior cardiovascular academic (professor or senior lecturer) working in the appropriate region in the United Kingdom.
- An ordinary member of the BCS.
- A fellow of the relevant Royal College of Physicians (in some circumstances a member of the relevant Royal College may be considered for the role provided other criteria are met).

Constituency

A full list of Regions and corresponding hospitals for England can be found at the end of this document.

The constituencies of the existing Advisers in England and Wales are based on cardiac network boundaries that were generally defined by regional service configuration. Regional Specialty Advisers will continue to represent clinical groups based on these existing boundaries but boundaries may need to be adjusted over time by agreement of all parties.

Advisers represent Regions according to RCP Region boundaries in England (17), Wales (2) and Northern Ireland (1) and Scotland (2).

Appointment

Regional Specialty Adviser posts will be advertised on the BCS website and via the BCS Newswire, and the posts will be highlighted by other routes wherever possible. Applications will be invited from individuals who meet the criteria for appointment. The selection process will be coordinated by the Honorary Secretary of the BCS and will include at least one other member of the Joint Specialty Committee.

Responsibilities

Regional Specialty Advisers will:

- Act as a regional specialty representative of the BCS and RCP.
- Act as a link between BCS/RCP and the local cardiovascular community, and present BCS/RCP communications to clinicians, other organisations and when relevant to the local media.
- Provide the BCS/RCP with reports on the local provision of cardiac services and highlight any significant concerns about service provision.
- Support the conduct of the BCS workforce and other surveys.
- Provide advice and support on the strengthened appraisal and revalidation of cardiologists
- Promote membership of the BCS and its Affiliated Groups
- Promote the educational and training activities of the BCS, particularly the Annual Scientific Conference and joint BCS/RCP educational activities.
- Support the identification of local experts eligible to provide advice to BCS/RCP on draft guidance from NICE and other organisations.
- Work with the relevant RCP Regional Adviser on issues such as resolving job descriptions for new posts, specific service concerns and nomination of cardiologists for FRCP. Peer support to RCP Regional Advisers and Regional Specialty Advisers in other specialties will be welcomed and supported by the RCP and BCS.
- Represent the RCP on consultant cardiologist Advisory Appointments Committees.
- Attend twice yearly national meetings of the Regional Specialty Advisers.

BCS support to Regional Specialty Advisers

The BCS and RCP will support the Regional Specialty Advisers in the delivery of the responsibilities of the role, including advice and guidance about job descriptions, consultant Advisory Appointments Committees and issues relating to local service provision. The BCS will provide Advisers with early notification of new guidelines, recommendations or other documents relevant to cardiovascular medicine that are published by BCS, ESC, NICE or other relevant organisations. The BCS will organise a minimum of one meetings of the RSAs per annum which will take place at the Annual Scientific Conference. Other meetings, with appropriate notice, may be required as deemed necessary by the BCS and/or RCP.
